Press release: For immediate release

Winners announced at the prestigious Asia Pacific Procurement Awards 2018

The winners of the Asia Pacific Procurement Awards 2018 have been revealed at the esteemed awards ceremony hosted by Procurement Leaders and presented by comedian and musician Vivek Mahbubani at The St Regis Singapore.

With the Asia Pacific region having a unique set of challenges and opportunities that contribute to procurement having a pivotal role in business outcomes, the Asia Pacific Procurement Awards celebrate the initiatives, teams and people that are raising the benchmark for procurement excellence in the region.

Jon Webb, Chair of Judges for the Asia Pacific Procurement Awards said, "This year saw a record number of entries from a wide range of leading organisations across 16 countries. The quality of the entries received, and the resulting list of winners, is a testament to the impact and value procurement functions in the region are delivering to their wider organisations".

The winners were decided by a distinguished panel of judges, including CPOs and procurement experts from Tata Steel, GSK, PZ Cussons, East Asia British Council, Syngenta, Bugaboo International, AIA, Transport for NSW, Singtel and many more industry-leading organisations.

These winners have been automatically shortlisted for the 13th Annual World Procurement Awards, taking place on 16 May 2019 at the Intercontinental London – The O2. Over 1,000 procurement elite are expected to attend the ceremony to celebrate the most esteemed, innovative, and transformative players in the industry from across the globe.
